

Cardinal Health Recognizes Nearly a Decade of Helping Healthcare Organizations Improve Patient Safety

Company highlights its commitment during Patient Safety Awareness Week

DUBLIN, Ohio, March 13, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- In honor of Patient Safety Awareness Week, Cardinal Health and the Cardinal Health Foundation are reinforcing their ongoing commitment to improving patient safety across the continuum of care through a number of grants and initiatives.

Medical errors are the third-leading cause of death in the United States, according to a recent study by researchers at Johns Hopkins University, published in BMJ (formerly the British Medical Journal) in May, 2016. The researchers estimate that medical errors claim as many as 251,000 lives every year.

Cardinal Health first recognized patient safety as an issue in 2009 when it supported the creation of Children's Hospitals' Solutions for Patient Safety (SPS) – a network of what is now 130 hospitals sharing data and best practices with the mission of eliminating serious harm across their hospitals. Recently selected for the John M. Eisenberg Patient Safety and Quality Awards, SPS has saved an estimated 10,000 children from serious harm and has eliminated more than $151 million in healthcare costs.

"From the beginning, Cardinal Health shared our vision that no child should experience serious harm during treatment," said Nick Lashutka, president and CEO, SPS and the Ohio Children's Hospital Association. "We're grateful for their support and acknowledge their efforts to emphasize the importance of safety in the delivery of healthcare."

In addition to its support of SPS, Cardinal Health has shown its commitment to patient safety through the following initiatives:

- E3 (Effectiveness, Efficiency & Excellence in Healthcare) grants. Through this grant program, the Cardinal Health Foundation has invested more than $9 million in hundreds of healthcare organizations as they work to improve patient outcomes and reduce healthcare costs. See recent grantees' achievements in increasing patient safety here.
- Generation Rx Best Practices in Pain Medication Use grants. The Foundation's Generation Rx Best Practices in Pain Medication Use and Patient Engagement grants are helping clinicians meet Centers for Disease Control opioid prescribing guidelines to improve the safety and efficacy of pain care and reduce the risks of long-term opioid use. The Foundation expects to announce the recipients of its 2018 Best Practices in Pain Medication Use grants this spring.
- Patient Safety Movement Foundation. Cardinal Health has become a committed partner with the Patient Safety Movement Foundation, a global movement with the mission of zero preventable deaths by 2020. As a committed partner, Cardinal Health will spread the mission of zero preventable deaths by 2020 and encourage and facilitate the sharing of successful patient safety processes among healthcare leaders within the Cardinal Health community.
- The Award for Excellence in Medication Safety. This nationally-acclaimed awards program, a collaboration between the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists (ASHP) Foundation and the Cardinal Health Foundation, recognizes pharmacist-led inter-professional teams for significant system-wide improvements in medication safety that have demonstrated patient and organizational outcomes. Videos of recent winners and finalists are available here.

"For nearly a decade, the Cardinal Health Foundation has invested more than $16 million to improve care, reduce costs and increase efficiency," said Dianne Radigan, vice president of Community Relations at Cardinal Health. "While we've made great progress in helping improve patient safety by collaborating with healthcare organizations and providers, Patient Safety Awareness Week reminds us all that there is still more work to be done."
